

CANTON IS RAIDED BY JAPANESE; U. S. SENDS PROTEST

China is Subjected to New Scourge of Death From the Air

SPARING NANKING

British Government is Urged To Take Steps to Halt Canton Bombings

By International News Service

Japanese warplanes continued aerial activities in various parts of China today, sparing Nanking, but raiding Canton in one of the most devastating attacks ever to strike the Chinese city.

Latest developments:

1. United States formal protest against Nanking bombing started Japanese officials.

2. Bombs strike heavily populated areas in Canton.

3. British government urged to take immediate steps to halt Japanese bombing of civilians in Canton.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23—Undaunted by the sharpest word of protest dispatched by the United States government since the World War, Japan today subjected China to a new scourge in death from the air, raining a hail of bombs on the defenseless city of Canton, with a toll of dead mounting into the hundreds.

The capital of Nanking, slated for complete destruction before the week is out, was spared temporarily, as Tokyo's bomb-laden war planes concentrated their activities on the southern city. As in the past, densely populated residential sections were singled out for the attack.

Thirty warplanes roared out of Shanghai this morning, but instead of attacking Nanking as anticipated, they concentrated their activities of bombing towns and villages between here and the capital, while the southern armada carried out its deadly work in the Canton destruction.

Eye witnesses told of ten huge bombers appearing over the city, fighting on Chinese planes which attempted to bar the progress, and the countless missiles of death and destruction dealt the city.

Morrisville P. T. A. To Greet Borough School Teachers

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 23—Plans for the teachers' reception to be held in the cafeteria of Summerseat, Tuesday evening, September 28, were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Parent-Teacher Association at Summerseat. All parents and interested friends of the schools are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

The new officers of the Parent-Teacher group include: President, Mrs. C. Marvin Young; first vice-president, Mrs. William Fielding; second vice-president, Mrs. Alvin Pratt; recording secretary, Miss Millie Altrick; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marion Harm; treasurer, Mrs. Roland Lawson.

Announcement was made at the meeting that the presidents of the various Parent-Teacher groups in the county met a few days ago to plan for celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Bucks County Parent-Teacher Association on October 29. Mrs. Ralph M. Fox, of this place, was the first president of the county group, and Mrs. John Flood, of New Hope, is president at this time.

To Hold Public Hearing On Zoning Ordinance

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 23—The open hearing upon the proposed new zoning ordinance for the borough of Doylestown, which is to be held on the night of Monday, October 4th, will be under the auspices of the Zoning Commission recently created and appointed by the Borough Council.

This meeting is required by law and is for the purpose of explaining to the citizens of Doylestown the provisions which are to form the new Zoning Code, including the map. These show how the various areas in the borough have been formed into districts, in each of which only certain specified types of buildings may hereafter be erected for the occupancy and use set forth in the code, and in which the size of the building in proportion to the lot area is regulated. The meeting will give the citizens the opportunity of expressing themselves upon this subject and of asking questions and making suggestions.

Aerial Warfare Renewed

Washington, Sept. 23—Japan's renewed aerial warfare on China's defense civilian population, defying America's emphatic protest, today shocked Washington officialdom and brought the United States near the verge of a diplomatic break.

While an official reply was awaited from Tokyo to yesterday's stern objections to the slaughter of non-combatants, the new air raids on Canton, with a frightful toll of civilian dead, aroused fears here that little satisfaction would be forthcoming to the American warning.

Begin Jail Terms

Norristown, Sept. 23—Albert Myers, 25, and Robert Roehner, 28, both of Philadelphia, today began serving 6½ to 15 year terms in Eastern Penitentiary.

Accused of being members of a bandit gang which allegedly staged a dozen major holdups in Philadelphia, the pair pleaded guilty to the holdup at the Phillip Carey Company in Plymouth Meeting, last February 26th.

Foil Communistic Protest

New York, Sept. 23—Adeptly foiling a scheduled Communistic protest demonstration, a coast guard cutter today brought Vittorio Mussolini, the son of Italy's Premier, safely up New York harbor after quietly disembarking him from the Italian liner Rex.

Action of the coast guard put a quietus on announced plans of the New York State Committee of the Communist Party to escort the Rex from quarantine with a loud speaker on a boat blazing a "protest" against the arrival of Il Duce's 20-year-old son.

The coast guard cutter Manhattan sidled along the palatial liner at quarantine and then Mussolini, enroute to Hollywood to study American movie production methods, was taken aboard.

Report Endeavor I Found

London, Sept. 23—The former America's cup challenger, Endeavor I, missing since she broke away from the tow of a yacht, 300 miles off the coast of New England, was reported found today southwest of the Azores Island.

The report that the sloop had been located was published by the London Evening News. The paper gave its position as 32 degrees north latitude, 39 degrees west longitude.

There was no immediate indication whether the $500,000 yacht, built by T. O. M. Sopwith, to challenge for the American cup three years ago, was still in difficulties.

There were 20 men, in addition to the Captain Ned Heard, aboard, when the Endeavor I broke away from the yacht, in the Atlantic over a week ago.

OIL-FED FLAMES CAUSE "FRISCO" $200,000 LOSS

Threaten Downtown Industrial District Before It Is Under Control

THOUSANDS AT SCENE

By International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23—Pillars of oil-fed flames that spread into the most spectacular fire here since the historic conflagration of 1906, were at last brought under control early today.

The fire swept the central plants of the Standard and Cook Oil companies and threatened the downtown industrial district before it was checked by a massed army of firemen.

Thousands were drawn to the scene as the flaming fuel spouted high in the air and gushed down the gutters in rivulets of fire.

Official estimate placed the damage at $200,000.

By a queer quirk of fate, the flaming walls of gasoline prevented spread of the fire to the other storage tanks nearby. Virtually every piece of fire apparatus in the city was called into the fight.

Clements Funeral Planned For Saturday Afternoon

Funeral arrangements have been made for Max B. Clements, husband of Caroline Pettit Clements, of Bridgeport, N. J., who was killed in an automobile accident near his home yesterday morning.

Relatives and friends have been invited to attend the funeral on Saturday at two p. m., from the funeral home of the H. S. Rue Estate, 314 Cedar street, here. Burial will be in Newtown Cemetery. Friends may call Friday evening.

Mr. Clements, a former resident of Bristol, died in Woodbury, N. J., hospital, two hours after his car was said to have side-swiped a truck and overturned several times. He suffered a rupture of the lung.

TRANSPORTATION PROVIDED

Cars will be at Bath and Otter streets, Friday evening at eight, to transport those who desire, to Newportville Fire House, for cards. The Bath Addition Women's Club will sponsor the party.

JUST A NICE CUDDLY PLAYMATE

If Geza Szegedi (above), 4, lacks for friends, he has no one but himself to blame. His strange hobby is playing with the snakes in the Municipal Zoo, Budapest, Hungary, where his father is keeper. Geza is reported to exercise a strange charm over the vicious and poisonous denizens of the Zoo.

MORRISVILLE TO OBSERVE CONSTITUTION'S BIRTH

Plan A Four-Day Observance Beginning November 11th With A Parade

DINNER IS INCLUDED

MORRISVILLE, Sept. 23—A four-day celebration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution is being planned to begin on Armistice Day, November 11th. Plans for the celebration were made at a meeting held in Summerseat with Mayor Thomas B. Stockham presiding.

The committee on the program for the celebration, which is headed by Charles H. Boehm, suggested a parade on Armistice Day, November 11, a pageant on Friday, November 12; a dinner Saturday night in the High School auditorium, and the closing of the celebration with special appropriate services in each of the five Morrisville churches.

The time for the parade will be left to the committee. If there is a big celebration in Trenton in the afternoon the parade will be held here in the morning. It is planned to have many floats depicting various events surrounding the signing of the Constitution. It is also expected to have a number of the military units of New Jersey together with the American Legion Post from here and other nearby towns, and the drum and bugle corps take part. Following the parade there will be short exercises in the high school auditorium with the dedication of a bust of Robert Morris.

The pageant on Friday will be given in the Falls and Lower Makefield schools during the day and in Morrisville at night. Students and grownups will take part. It is also planned to plant a number of trees on this day with suitable exercises. Some time during the celebration the Morrisville group will place a wreath on the grave of George Clymer, who is buried in Trenton.

Theodore E. Howe was elected permanent secretary of the general committee. Mayor Stockham is the chairman.

Additional committees were appointed, including: Parade, Herbert LaRue, Paul Taylor and Harry Lair. Other members will be appointed later by Mr. LaRue, the chairman. Exhibit—Mrs. C. Marvin Young, Mrs. J. E. Erwin, James M. Moon, Norman S. Conover, Mrs. Coleman Morgan. Continued On Page Three

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1937, by The Baltimore Sun)

To Brazen It Out

AS THE President starts on his Western trip, various individuals with whom he has somewhat perturbedly conferred at Hyde Park and over the telephone concerning the Klan connections of Mr. Hugo Black feel that the line he intends to take is best calculated to minimize the personal damage.

His advisers are in accord about that.

THE BASIC IDEA is that if both he and Mr. Black sit tight and say nothing ultimately the whole business will blow over and largely be forgotten. It is conceded a certain amount of harm to the President is inevitable, but his clear strategy is to ignore the incident, treat it as though it had not occurred, leave it to his propaganda bureau and journalistic defenders to create the impression that the charges are made by "Tory enemies" enraged against Mr. Black because he is a "great liberal statesman."

MR. ROOSEVELT'S game is to give the people something else to think about and let his spokesmen and leaders do the best they can to make the Klan disclosures seem political. In other words, the advice he has been given and seems to be following is to brazen it out. Whether Mr. Black will do the same cannot, of course, be told, but the ignominious way in which he has fled from reporters and the extraordinary means he has taken to prevent any question being asked him indicate that he is not going to deny the charges. The latest development, disclosing that one of Attorney General Cummings' assistants in the Department of Justice, appointed on recommendation of Mr. Black, is himself a Klansman, from whom Mr. Black's Klan connection could have been learned without going out of his own office, tends to increase the belief that Mr. Black, if he says anything, will assert that he is being "persecuted by the enemies of the President." That, of course, is complete rot, but it is the typical tune for a politician in a jam. Already cries of "Persecution for the President's sake" are being emitted by the more irresponsible of the radical element among Congressmen.

SO FAR AS Mr. Roosevelt is concerned, the argument of his friends for the dignified-silence treatment is clearly stated. In the first place, they contend, there is nothing else really for him to do. He cannot remove Mr. Black and the latter certainly will not resign. In the light of the revelations, the less Mr. Roosevelt says on the subject the better. In the second place, it is

ORGANIZE SOLICITORS FOR SCHOOL FUND DRIVE

Executive Board Meets At Doylestown Inn to Plan The Campaign

MANY ARE ACCEPTING

The organization of 450 solicitors for the annual scouting maintenance campaign was announced Tuesday evening during the bi-monthly meeting of the Bucks County Council Executive Board at the Doylestown Inn. Finance Chairman Edmund H. Lovett is contacting the district centers in the developing of their corps of workers. "Scouting Booster" acceptance cards are arriving daily at the drug store of Dr. A. J. Strathie, Newtown, with Scouting leaders all over the county enlisting to aid in the fall campaign.

The present inadequate budget is not meeting the needs of the 1428 boys and young men for program, and the 455 men for training and office helps. This emergency is arousing men everywhere to "get out and work for Scouting." Foundation gifts soliciting is to take place immediately with the general solicitation starting shortly after the first of the month of October. Paul F. Forster spoke of his plans for the campaign in the Lower Bucks district. Henry Palmer outlined the effort to be made at Langhorne. Lloyd Welsel was introduced as the new District Vice-Chairman of the North Penn Valley District and spoke of the plans in his area that are developing with District Chairman Paul R. Sine.

Experiences from the National Jamboree were related by National Representative Dr. J. J. Williams, Bristol. In his opinion, "it was the most inspiring, thrilling and exciting spectacle in my life. The 25,800 Scouts and Seascouts were a credit to their home towns. All of the Washington newspapers remarked that the Jamboree was the center of things even though it was in a city of great government activity. A dent was made in the everyday life of the National Capital."

Training Committee Chairman Walter W. Pitzonka, District Commissioner Herbert A. Pettit, and President Strathie spoke of the many things they saw during their visit to the different camp sites. The international camp of Scouts from 22 countries camping with 835 Scouts from America

SIX MOTORISTS IN COURT ON CHARGES OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Judge Says the Patience of The Court is Becoming Exhausted

HALF OF COURT LIST

One Defendant Before Court For The Third Time

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 23—Deliberating but a short time, a jury acquitted Clarence R. Wiley, Newtown truck driver, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, but directed that he pay the costs of prosecution.

Wiley was arrested August 29 by a Bristol policeman while driving Frank Heath's car.

Declaring that the patience of the Court was exhausted, President Judge Hiram H. Keller on Tuesday sentenced Everett P. Neld, of Oxford Valley, who was convicted of drunken driving, to pay the costs of prosecution and serve not less than three months nor more than three years in the County Prison.

"The Court and the jury did not know that you were here twice before on the same charge. Eleven years ago you paid a fine for drunken driving, and in 1930 you paid another fine," said Judge Keller.

"You don't seem to have benefitted from your previous experiences, and the patience of the Court is exhausted," continued Judge Keller as the elderly defendant was directed to prisoners' row in the court room.

Six other drunken drivers, who were described by Judge Keller as "representing what we see so often on the front pages of the newspapers these days," and who pleaded guilty, were sentenced on Tuesday.

The defendants included Joseph H. Munzer, 2658 North 7th street, Philadelphia; William Dorman, Torresdale; H. Thornley Martin, 115 East 34th street, New York City; Robert S. Mumbauer, John Erdy and Roesten Hibbets.

"One-half of the cases in this court are drunken driving cases and you are the men who make it unsafe for men and women, who have a right to be on the highway. You are a danger to the life of hundreds of men and women in Bucks County," said the Court.

To Robert Mumbauer, who was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $150, Judge Keller said: "It is refreshing to have a man come into court and tell the truth, which I believe you did. You said you felt too drunk to drive and that you didn't remember how many beers you had. Most of them tell the Court they only had two or three."

Mumbauer was sleeping in his car when apprehended and arrested.

Dorman, Hibbets and Martin were each sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $150.

Munzer, who was arrested by Motor Policeman George H. Rentz on the Pebble Hill Road, was given a suspended sentence on a drunken driving charge about eight years ago. He was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $150.

Erdy was sentenced to serve not less than 30 days nor more than two years in the County Prison.

Using as his defense the claim that locomotor ataxia caused him to stagger, Matej Chomucky, of Bridge Valley, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was acquitted by a jury Tuesday afternoon before Judge Calvin S. Boyer, but directed to pay the costs of prosecution.

Chomucky, who was arrested by Trooper Aracome, of the Pennsylvania Motor Police, near his home, September 4, told the officer he had three beers in a taproom at Jamison, but that he was not drunk.

"My wobbly gait was caused, and is now, by an attack of locomotor ataxia," said the defendant.

Dr. William Westcott, Doylestown physician, who examined the defendant, testified that the defendant's first few steps showed no coordination, and the way he talked, I concluded he "after smelling alcohol on his breath was not in any condition to drive an automobile. I gave him a thorough investigation but his peculiar nervous disease would give him a staggering gait."

Chomucky, who formerly served as a marine, had difficulty in walking to the witness stand because of his condition. He literally shuffled to the chair with a wobbly gait.

Speaking to the defendant, Judge Boyer said, "This was a close call for you. You had a pretty narrow escape. You have no business to drink while driving a car."

Dr. Bradford Green, Buckingham physician, in his testimony presented a minute description of the nature of the disease which is peculiar to the defendant and has affected his central nervous system.

Witnesses for the defendant included Albert Krause, Bridge Valley; January Wicen, Mozart; Mrs. Elizabeth Chomucky and Thomas Riley, Furlong.

SIMPLIFIED TAX RETURNS

Of course, the new income-tax forms approved by the treasury department will not lessen the pain of payment, but they should lessen the mechanics of scheduled returns. And that should reduce the pain of the pre-payment period.

The new returns are to have larger and clearer type and bigger spaces in which to make entries. And there are to be other advantages. Those persons who deal in subterfuges may not like the new blanks any better than the old ones; but to the majority of income-tax payers whose financial condition does not call for these little tricks and whose setup is so simple that they could not be concealed, the simplified forms ought to bring considerable relief.

This group will be spared some of the questions which may have confused them in previous years, such as detailed queries as to ownership of securities. On the new returns, the affidavit sworn to by the taxpayer will be switched from the first to the last page. Thus if an individual doesn't let the notary public thumb through his return, he can keep the amount of his salary secret.

Many of the simplifications for the less than $5,000 returns also have been included in the forms for individual incomes over $5,000. Some changes have been effected as well in corporation returns. The treasury experts, however, centered their efforts on easing problems of the "little fellow."

FORECASTING THE WINTER

About this time various prophets arise, and observing natural phenomena, tell us whether we shall have a severe winter or not. One prophet has it that the winter will be severe because the corn husks are thick. Some think thick fur on animals forecasts a hard winter. The "goose-bone prophet" has his own original method of making these predictions. Probably the fur of animals and other such conditions depend not on the winter that is coming, but on the kind of weather through the summer. If there has been plenty of moisture and food, animals look thrifty. If food has been scarce, they look thin and peaked. It would be a wonderful thing if weather could be predicted far in advance, but the scientists seem to think it can't be done very successfully as yet.

And how about hot-air conditioning for football stands?

The huge trailer, loaned to the Red Cross by the Philadelphia Gas Works, has its four walls lined with interesting exhibits.

Visitors who inspect the Red Cross "cottage on wheels" will see exhibits showing methods of life-saving instructions; a picture of the "gray ladies," a volunteer of women who contribute their time to the Red Cross; a Braille department table, showing Braille story books and playing cards; a nursing service department, displaying a miniature doll house; a production department exhibit, showing children's dresses made at the hands of volunteers. The Junior Red Cross department occupies the front end of the trailer. Here the work of public and private school children is displayed and three shelves are filled with dolls wearing costumes of every country in the world.

Members of the local branch of the Red Cross will be present to explain the activities of the organization in its various fields of endeavor.

going to the World Jamboree was unusual.

Complimenting Jamboree Scoutmaster Andrew Y. Michie and Assistant Jamboree Scoutmaster Herbert A. Pettit and their Scouts for their exceptional ability at the Jamboree, Activities Chairman Thomas Ross spoke of their being the only Scouts from seven Councils succeeding in constructing a stave bridge during one of the monster arena shows. Regional and National recognition was given to the historical exhibit of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" constructed by Scouts of Bristol Troop No. 1 and painted by Mrs. J. J. Willaman. Equal mention was made of the fine industrial display made available by the U. S. Gauge Company of Sellersville. It was constructed by Scouts of Sellersville and Seascouts from Sellers-Perk. The painting of the background was done by Rev. James L. Shepley.

A list of materials needed to complete the work on many of the sites at Buccoo was presented by Camp Chairman Edward W. Fell. Good work had been done prior to the camping season by the units occupying the Stockade, Mountain View, and Camp Lookout sites. The average weight gain of more than two pounds and a half per camper at Buccoo during the past camping season was spoken of by Arthur M. Eastburn, Chairman of the Camping Committee. Money is needed to improve the swimming area so that life saving instruction can be given. There is a noticeable improvement in

FASHIONS SHOW TREND TOWARD MORE ELABORATE NOTE FOR FALL

By SUSAN BARDEN
International Illustrated News Writer

NEW YORK—Paris openings this year show an astounding change in the trend of fashions. The French designers must have tired of the comparative simplicity of the feminine wardrobe and tried to complicate it. The result is a concentrated attack from these designing ladies and gentlemen from across the sea.

Since coats are the first in everybody's thoughts now that the chilly days are just around the corner, this department paid particular attention to what is going to be worn on top this fall.

Fur coats have certainly come back into their own, worn not only for dressy occasions but for spectator sports. And for those cold days at the football games they are decidedly smart and practical.

Of course, wool coats are also very much in evidence but with them there is a great deal of fur trimming, in some cases even whole sleeves, and in others enveloping collars that you can just peek over.

Swagger Coats in Vogue
Rosemary Lane has chosen a fur coat for her outdoor activities during the coming season. She is going to start for the stadium swathed in a smart sports coat of Pahlm. A swell protection against the windy weather. Broad shoulders, bell sleeves and an intricately cut collar portray the new lines. The cream and brown tones of the fur are richly accented by the monotone brown of the dress, hat and accessories.

Jane Wyman is wearing a costume in two colors. For days in town she has selected a simple wool crepe dress styled with a high neckline and long tight sleeves. Darts at either shoulder give the front of the bodice a note of softness. A wide belt of self-colored suede shows a trim of natural wood. The swagger coat is equally appropriate for town and country. It is made of natural camel's hair and has a mushroom collar of lynx. The stitched pockets are a smart detail. The dress and hat are in that fascinating warm russet shade and the accessories are brown.

Fur and fabric are cleverly combined in the town coat selected by Gail Patrick. The entire back and sleeves of the coat are made of Persian lamb but the sides have godets of black broadcloth which give the coat an entirely new effect in skirt fullness. In this the most unimaginative of us could not help feeling both glamorous and alluring.

discriminating followers would hardly think it good. Another thing is the certainty that, whether or not it is possible to impeach Mr. Black, there will certainly be some pretty hot discussion of the facts on the floor of the House and Senate when Congress meets, and there is at least a likelihood of the passage of a condemnatory resolution by a Senate which thinks that fraud and deceit were practiced upon it to secure the Black confirmation.

A NUMBER of Senators who voted for Mr. Black are sure to voice their indignation and "demand action." Perhaps they won't get it but they certainly will demand it. And that will make things very painful, indeed, for a President who has permitted his desire to humiliate the court to lead him into one of the most inexcusable White House mistakes on record. No amount of denunciation of economic royalists, no eloquent sobbing for the "underprivileged" is going altogether to conceal the fact that a degrading appointment has been made which even some of his most partisan friends find diffi-

the leadership with more Scouters present. All other advancement attending with their troops.

Judge Hiram H. Keller informed the Executive Board that three dates had been arranged for the coming Fall Divisional Courts of Honor. They will be: Northern, November 7th, Sellersville; Central, November 14th, Churchville; and Southern, November 21st, Newportville. The report on a Civic Service project recently given by the Bucks County Council in co-operation with the Bethlehem and Lehigh County Councils was given by Civic Service Chairman Hon. Calvin S. Boyer.

Eighty-six per cent of the Scouting exhibiting space at the Doylestown Fair for 1938 has been reserved by the Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Seascout Ships of the Council. Educational Chairman Dr. A. J. Strathie is expecting the three remaining spaces of one Pack and two Scout Troops will be taken before the last of the week. The work of the Field Commissioners of Health and Safety were discussed by Chairman Harold Thompson.

Second Class Scouts will receive immediate award of their attainment by a new procedure adopted. It was presented as a request of the Organizational Committee through Council Scout Commissioner William Burgess. The procedure becomes effective today.

Upon completing the Second Class Troop Committee Review, the advancement cards will be mailed to Scouting Headquarters and the badge of that rank will be mailed to the Scoutmaster for presentation to the worthy Scouts at the next troop meeting with his par-cedure will continue as it has been previously given. It was approved to have appointed a Field Commissioner of Rural Scouting for intensive work among the farm boys of the Northern Division in the North Penn and Delaware River Districts. This is an effort to make Scouting available to the farm boy. It was decided that boys of Seascout age living in towns in which there is not a Ship will not have to join any certain Ship but may join any Ship of their choice.

Assistant National Seascout Director Frank Braden will probably attend the 1937 Seascout Ball and Bridge of Honor planned for Saturday, November 6th with the Sells-Perk Ship, Skipper F. P. Kemmerer. It will be the formal presentation activity conducted for the young men from 15 to 21 years of age. The Shipping Board under the supervision of Scout Executive William F. Livermore arranges the details. The most impressive King Neptune ceremony in which the Quartermaster Seascouts are recognized is a part of the interesting program. Quartermaster Seascouts are in Seascouting what the Eagle Scout is to Boy Scouting.

The Great Game of Politics

somewhat cynically pointed out that while it is true the incident may alienate a certain number of the more intelligent it will not affect the bulk of his supporters, who think anything he does is right, or who, one way or another, are getting Federal funds. It is further pointed out that the chief outcry comes from those opposed to him anyhow and that the emotion over the incident is bound to evaporate if given time.

ALL OF THIS is plausible but unsound because it does not touch several things of which the President and his friends are acutely aware and which make them really sick to contemplate. One, of course, is that the Black affair has made it impossible for Mr. Roosevelt to do what he intended to do on this trip—namely, stir people to resentment against Democratic Senators who opposed his court-packing plan so that he could revive it in the next session. Any attempt to do that is bound to sag against popular knowledge that he not only failed to investigate the charges that Mr. Black was a Klansman but personally blocked the Senate from investigating.

IT MAY BE that in the course of time many people will forget that fact, but it won't be soon, and some will never forget it. After what he has done to it, criticism of the court from Mr. Roosevelt becomes so absurd that his most un-

THAT OUR DAYS MAY BE LONG IN THIS LAND OF PLENTY LET US HAVE PEACE

Nothing we can think of is more wonderful than a peaceful opportunity to enjoy the richness of this world during our journey from the cradle to the great unknown.

It is our duty to study and do our part toward the elimination of conditions which produce international strife and destroy our peace of mind. War can be avoided!

It is also our duty to protect our peace of mind from the consequences of every day mishaps, which cannot always be avoided. In this particular matter it is your duty to your loved ones as well as to yourself to act at once and insure.

SIMPLIFIED TAX RETURNS

Of course, the new income-tax forms approved by the treasury department will not lessen the pain of payment, but they should lessen the mechanics of scheduled returns. And that should reduce the pain of the pre-payment period.

The new returns are to have larger and clearer type and bigger spaces in which to make entries. And there are to be other advantages. Those persons who deal in subterfuges may not like the new blanks any better than the old ones; but to the majority of income-tax payers whose financial condition does not call for these little tricks and whose setup is so simple that they could not be concealed, the simplified forms ought to bring considerable relief.

This group will be spared some of the questions which may have confused them in previous years, such as detailed queries as to ownership of securities. On the new returns, the affidavit sworn to by the taxpayer will be switched from the first to the last page. Thus if an individual doesn't let the notary public thumb through his return, he can keep the amount of his salary secret.

Many of the simplifications for the less than $5,000 returns also have been included in the forms for individual incomes over $5,000. Some changes have been effected as well in corporation returns. The treasury experts, however, centered their efforts on easing problems of the "little fellow."

FORECASTING THE WINTER

About this time various prophecies arise, and observing natural phenomena, tell us whether we shall have a severe winter or not. One prophet has it that the winter will be severe because the corn husks are thick. Some think thick fur on animals forecasts a hard winter. The "goose-bone prophet" has his own original method of making these predictions.

Probably the fur of animals and other such conditions depend not on the winter that is coming, but on the kind of weather through the summer. If there has been plenty of moisture and food, animals look thrifty. If food has been scarce, they look thin and peaked. It would be a wonderful thing if weather could be predicted far in advance, but the scientists seem to think it can't be done very successfully as yet.

And how about hot-air conditioning for football stands?

With the approach of fall, the movies may make up in temperature for films that are not so hot.

work accomplished during the past year.

The huge trailer, loaned to the Red Cross by the Philadelphia Gas Works, has its four walls lined with interesting exhibits.

Visitors who inspect the Red Cross "cottage on wheels" will see exhibits showing methods of life-saving instructions; a picture of the "gray ladies," a volunteer of women who contribute their time to the Red Cross; a Braille department table, showing Braille story books and playing cards; a nursing service department, displaying a miniature doll house; a production department exhibit, showing children's dresses made at the hands of volunteers. The Junior Red Cross department occupies the front end of the trailer. Here the work of public and private school children is displayed and three shelves are filled with dolls wearing costumes of every country in the world.

Members of the local branch of the Red Cross will be present to explain the activities of the organization in its various fields of endeavor.

Complimenting Jamboree Scoutmaster Andrew Y. Michle and Assistant Jamboree Scoutmaster Herbert A. Pettit and their Scouts for their exceptional ability at the Jamboree, Activities Chairman Thomas Ross spoke of their being the only Scouts from seven Councils succeeding in constructing a stave bridge during one of the monster arena shows. Regional and National recognition was given to the historical exhibit of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" constructed by Scouts of Bristol Troop No. 1 and painted by Mrs. J. J. Willaman. Equal mention was made of the fine industrial display made available by the U. S. Gauge Company of Sellersville. It was constructed by Scouts of Sellersville and Seascouts from Sells-Perk. The painting of the background was done by Rev. James L. Shepley.

A list of materials needed to complete the work on many of the sites at Buccoo was presented by Camp Chairman Edward W. Fell. Good work had been done prior to the camping season by the units occupying the Stockade, Mountain View, and Camp Lookout sites. The average weight gain of more than two pounds and a half per camper at Buccoo during the past camping season was spoken of by Arthur M. Eastburn, Chairman of the Camping Committee. Money is needed to improve the swimming area so that life saving instruction can be given. There is a noticeable improvement in

FASHIONS SHOW TREND TOWARD MORE ELABORATE NOTE FOR FALL

By SUSAN BARDEN
International Illustrated News Writer

NEW YORK—Paris openings this year show an astounding change in the trend of fashions. The French designers must have tired of the comparative simplicity of the feminine wardrobe and tried to complicate it. The result is a concentrated attack from these designing ladies and gentlemen from across the sea.

Since coats are the first in everybody's thoughts now that the chilly days are just around the corner, this department paid particular attention to what is going to be worn on top this fall.

Fur coats have certainly come back into their own, worn not only for dressy occasions but for spectator sports. And for those cold days at the football games they are decidedly smart and practical.

Of course, wool coats are also very much in evidence but with them there is a great deal of fur trimming, in some cases even whole sleeves, and in others enveloping collars that you can just peek over.

Swagger Coats in Vogue

Rosemary Lane has chosen a fur coat for her outdoor activities during the coming season. She is going to start for the stadium swathed in a smart sports coat of Palmi. A swell protection against the windy weather. Broad shoulders, bell sleeves and an intricately cut collar portray the new lines. The cream and brown tones of the fur are richly accented by the monotone brown of the dress, hat and accessories.

Jane Wyman is wearing a costume in two colors. For days in town she has selected a simple wool crepe dress styled with a high neckline and long tight sleeves. Darts at either shoulder give the front of the bodice a note of softness. A wide belt of self-colored suede shows a trim of natural wood. The swagger coat is equally appropriate for town and country. It is made of natural camel's hair and has a mushroom collar of lynx. The stitched pockets are a smart detail. The dress and hat are in that fascinating warm new russet shade and the accessories are brown.

Fur and fabric are cleverly combined in the town coat selected by Gail Patrick. The entire back and sleeves of the coat are made of Persian lamb but the sides have godets of black broadcloth which give the coat an entirely new effect in skirt fullness. In this the most unimaginative of us could not help feeling both glamorous and alluring.

discriminating followers would hardly think it good. Another thing is the certainty that, whether or not it is possible to impeach Mr. Black, there will certainly be some pretty hot discussion of the facts on the floor of the House and Senate when Congress meets, and there is at least a likelihood of the passage of a condemnatory resolution by a Senate which thinks that fraud and deceit were practiced upon it to secure the Black confirmation.

A NUMBER of Senators who voted for Mr. Black are sure to voice their indignation and "demand action." Perhaps they won't get it but they certainly will demand it. And that will make things very painful, indeed, for a President who has permitted his desire to humiliate the court to lead him into one of the most inexcusable White House mistakes on record. No amount of denunciation of economic royalists, no eloquent sobbing for the "under-privileged" is going altogether to conceal the fact that a degrading appointment has been made which even some of his most partisan friends find difficult.

the leadership with more Scouters present. All other advancement attending with their troops.

Judge Hiram H. Keller informed the Executive Board that three dates had been arranged for the coming Fall Divisional Courts of Honor. They will be: Northern, November 7th, Sellersville; Central, November 14th, Churchville; and Southern, November 21st, Newportville. The report on a Civic Service project recently given by the Bucks County Council in co-operation with the Bethlehem and Lehigh County Councils was given by Civic Service Chairman Hon. Calvin S. Boyer.

Eighty-six per cent of the Scouting exhibiting space at the Doylestown Fair for 1938 has been reserved by the Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Seascout Ships of the Council. Educational Chairman Dr. A. J. Strathie is expecting the three remaining spaces of one Pack and two Scout Troops will be taken before the last of the week. The work of the Field Commissioners of Health and Safety were discussed by Chairman Harold Thompson.

Second Class Scouts will receive immediate award of their attainment by a new procedure adopted. It was presented as a request of the Organizational Committee through Council Scout Commissioner William Burgess. The procedure becomes effective today. Upon completing the Second Class Troop Committee Review, the advancement cards will be mailed to Scouting Headquarters and the badge of that rank will be mailed to the Scoutmaster for presentation to the worthy Scouts at the next troop meeting with his partner.

somewhat cynically pointed out that while it is true the incident may alienate a certain number of the more intelligent it will not affect the bulk of his supporters, who think anything he does is right, or who, one way or another, are getting Federal funds. It is further pointed out that the chief outcry comes from those opposed to him anyhow and that the emotion over the incident is bound to evaporate if given time.

ALL OF THIS is plausible but unsound because it does not touch several things of which the President and his friends are acutely aware and which make them really sick to contemplate. One, of course, is that the Black affair has made it impossible for Mr. Roosevelt to do what he intended to do on this trip—namely, stir people to resentment against Democratic Senators who opposed his court-packing plan so that he could revive it in the next session. Any attempt to do that is bound to sag against popular knowledge that he not only failed to investigate the charges that Mr. Black was a Klansman but personally blocked the Senate from investigating.

IT MAY BE that in the course of time many people will forget that fact, but it won't be soon, and some will never forget it. After what he has done to it, criticism of the court from Mr. Roosevelt becomes so absurd that his most un-

ITEMS WORTH SAVING
IN WINTER DESERVE
CARE IN PRESERVING

To save or discard—that is the clothes question that comes to housewives at the tag end of summer. Hard wear may have made many articles of the family's summer wardrobe useless for another season, but some of the items will be well worth saving. Anything worth saving is worth the careful storage that will preserve it unimpaired for the following season.

Of prime importance in storing summer garments, draperies, furniture covers and all the other fabric left-overs is their condition during the storage period. This is true of cottons, linens, silks and synthetics—the usual materials of hot weather apparel. Everything washable should be laundered before being put away. Other articles should be dry-cleaned.

Even a slight amount of soil left in fabrics over a protracted period of time will do more to shorten their life and beauty than a similar period of use with laundering in between—that is why the pre-storage washing is so important. When the time comes to put away the summer materials each item should be gone over carefully. Hems that may have to be let down next season should be ripped out. Garments that will need re-making should be taken apart before the laundering. This keeps the seams and edges from setting too firmly and leaving a mark that is hard to remove later.

In laundering the usual procedure of ordinary laundering for each type of fabric should be followed, except that starching should be omitted from the cottons, curtains and other articles that would ordinarily be starched. Ironing also should be omitted. Simply fold the garments neatly and put them in well covered boxes clearly labelled so that there will be no frantic searching for little Mary's dresses when next there is a demand for them.

HELPFUL HINTS AND SUCCESSFUL CANNING

Canning and pickling are important subjects at this season. Two home-canning methods commonly are used: The cooked-in-the-kettle and the cooked-in-the-jar methods.

The first method, meaning that the food is cooked in a kettle and then poured into the jars, is successful only if careful attention is given to sterilizing the food, jars, caps and utensils which come into contact with the food.

The New York State College of Home Economics explains that the open-kettle method is losing favor because more vitamin C is destroyed in that process than when the processing takes place in the can. Likewise the loss by spoilage may be greater with the open-kettle method, since it is difficult to keep the containers and food sterile during the transfer process from kettle to jars.

When fruits such as berries are cooked in the open kettle and then transferred to containers, the fruit may break and become mushy and aromatic fruit preserved by the open-kettle method loses some of its flavor.

Too Much Parade

Being pushed around for a mere matter of hours was too much for this youthful watcher of the American Legion parade up Fifth Avenue, New York. He was carried from the scene by a policeman and counted as one of the many victims of exhaustion among the crowd of more than 2,000,000.

Light and Shadow Play Hide-and-Seek

As summer passes the sun still makes sparkles on the lake of Greenwood State Park. This beautiful retreat is in Huntingdon county, reached via State Route 305.

In the cases of jellies, jams, marmalades and preserves, on the other hand, the open-kettle system is recommended. Those foods contribute color and flavor to meals, as well as the nutritive value of the sugar and the vitamin and mineral value of the fruit.

Preserved fruits keep better than do canned fruits, for the greater the concentration of sugar, the less apt are bacteria to grow. A perfect seal is necessary to prevent spoilage.

It pays to have the right equipment when you do your canning. The most important piece of this equipment is the canner in which the jars of food are steamed, or boiled. The water-bath canner is suitable for canning fruit and the acid vegetables, but for best results and for safety in canning non-acid vegetables and meats, a steam-pressure cooker is advised by most experts.

In operating and caring for a pressure canner, follow the directions of the manufacturer. Nine general rules should be observed:

1. Pour boiling water into the kettle until the level is just below the rack that holds the jars. Be sure to have enough water to prevent boiling dry during the processing.
2. Place the hot jars in the pressure cooker. Do not let the jars touch each other.
3. After the food has been placed in the cooker and the cover has been clamped, close the safety-valve and open the pet-cock.
4. Leave the pet-cock open until the steam escapes from it in a steady stream for four to five minutes, indicating that no air remains inside.
5. Bring the pressure up to the desired point slowly. Start counting processing time from the minute the required amount of pressure has been attained.
6. The pressure must not be allowed to vary because a fluctuating pressure is likely to force the liquid out of the jar, leaving a hollow space at the top.
7. When the cooking period is over, remove the cooker from the heat, let the pressure fall naturally to zero, and then carefully open the pet-cock. It is very important that you do not open the pet-cock while there is pressure.
8. Do not hasten the cooling by putting water or wet cloth on the cooker.
9. Open the pet-cock gradually to let the steam escape slowly. When you know the steam is out, and not before, open the cooker and remove the jars.

RECIPES

Canned Tomatoes

Select tomatoes that are ripe, but not over-ripe. Scald a few tomatoes at a time in boiling water from one-half to two minutes, using a wire basket, colander, or thin cloth. Dip them into cold water and remove quickly. Cut out the stem core, then twist the skins off with a quick turn, which should leave the pulp intact.

Pack the tomatoes into sterilized jars, pressing them down firmly with a wooden spoon and pouring off the juice. Pack the can as full as possible and add one teaspoon of salt for each quart. One teaspoon to one tablespoon of sugar may be added, if liked. Boil the filled jars in a hot water bath for 30 minutes. Be cautious about trying to can too many tomatoes at a time by the cold-pack method. In very hot weather they may be spoiled by flat souring if they stand too long at any stage of the process.

Three C's Salad

One-half cup minced celery; one and one-half cups finely-shredded cabbage; three-fourths cup grated carrots; three-fourth cup chilled boiled dressing. Blend all ingredients, adding dressing about one-half hour before serving and chill thoroughly in ice box. Decorate with strips of green pepper and dash of paprika.

TIMELY RECIPES You Will Want to Try!

Lamb Roast Always in Favor

There is a good supply of high quality lamb in the market at present, and the wise homemaker takes advantage of this fact to serve it frequently to her family and for party luncheons and dinners.

There is nothing finer for a roast than a leg of lamb. It has a delicious, delicate flavor, is good hot or cold, and it is easy to prepare.

Lamb, being the meat of a young animal, is always tender. It is best when roasted at a constant low oven temperature. Then it is sure to be juicy and to retain its fine flavor.

When you select a leg of lamb for a roast, do not have the "fell", that thin, papery covering, removed. The fell does not affect the flavor of the meat, and the roast holds its shape better and cooks a little more quickly if it is left on.

Sprinkle the roast with salt and pepper and place it, skin-side down and cut-side up, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Place it in a moderate oven (300 to 350 degrees F.). Do not add any water and do not cover. You will not need to baste the roast. Allow about 35 minutes per pound for roasting.

Mint apples are an attractive garnish for roast leg of lamb. Make a syrup by cooking 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water. Color with green vegetable coloring and flavor with a few drops of oil of peppermint. Pare and core apples and simmer in the mint syrup until tender but not soft. Place in a border around the roast. Garnish with mint leaves.

One and one-third cups flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one slightly beaten egg, one-half cup minced, cooked ham, one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth cup milk, one cup corn, vegetable fat for frying.

Sift the dry ingredients. Add the egg, combined with the milk, corn and ham and beat until the batter is free from lumps. Melt and heat enough fat to cover the bottom of a large, heavy frying pan. Fry in the mixture by tablespoonfuls, forming flat fritters. Fry until brown on one side, then turn and brown on the other.

Corn Omelet

Three eggs, one cup cooked corn, one-half teaspoon salt, paprika, three tablespoons butter.

Separate the yolks from the whites of the eggs. Beat the yolks until thick and add the corn, salt and paprika. Mix together well and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Put the butter in a hot pan and turn the mixtures into it, spreading evenly.

Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F, for about 25 minutes. When a knife thrust into the center of the omelet comes out clean, remove from the oven, cut it across the center of the top, fold one side over the other and turn on a hot platter. A hot cheese sauce makes this an extra-delicious luncheon or supper dish.

Prune Bavarian

One cup prune pulp, two tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon gelatine, one-fourth cup cold water, one cup cream one tablespoon lemon juice.

Add sugar to prune pulp and set in a cold place to dissolve. Stir occasionally. Soak gelatine in cold water and dissolve over boiling water. Cool slightly and add to prune mixture. Whip the cream. Add lemon juice, then fold in the prune-gelatine mixture.

Pour into a mold and chill until set. Or mold in individual custard cups.

Ginger Pears

Five pounds hard pears, five pounds sugar, one-third cup preserved ginger, cut in small pieces, three cups water, three lemons, juice and grated rind.

Remove the skin and cores from the pears and cut the fruit in slices lengthwise. Add the water and cook the pears until they are tender. Add the sugar and other ingredients and simmer the mixture until it is thick. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal. Hard varieties of apples may be preserved in the same way.

Tomato Preserves

Five pounds ripe tomatoes, four pounds sugar, two lemons, salt.

Scald the tomatoes and slip off the skins. Place the tomatoes in a crock, or enamel bowl, and add sugar. Let them stand overnight. Drain off the juice and boil it rapidly until it threads. Add tomatoes and lemons, sliced thin, and cook the preserves until they are thick and clear. They should be a rich, red color. Seal in clean, hot jars.

cream with two cups sugar. Add the beaten yolks of five eggs, sift three cups of flour with two teaspoons of baking powder several times; one cup sweet milk, added alternately with the flour. Fold in egg whites, stiffly beaten. Add any desired flavoring, using a combination of lemon and nutmeg, few drops almond flavoring, or a generous quantity of vanilla. Bake slowly about one hour in moderate oven.

Sour Milk Velvet Cake

One cup sugar, creamed with one-half cup shortening; one beaten egg; one-fourth teaspoon salt; one cup sour milk; one teaspoon soda; one teaspoon cinnamon; one-fourth teaspoon ground cloves; one-fourth teaspoon ground nutmeg; two cups flour, sifted with seasonings. Chopped nuts and raisins may be added to vary this recipe. No icing is necessary.

Lemon Snaps

Two cups sugar, creamed with one cup shortening; two beaten eggs; one cup sweet milk; one level teaspoon soda sifted with enough flour to roll thin; two teaspoons baking powder; one teaspoon lemon juice or flavoring; dash nutmeg; pinch of salt. Add grating of lemon rind for stronger flavoring. Mix well in order given. Roll thin and bake on greased cookie sheet until golden brown.

JOHNNY MULHOLLAND TO COACH "RECS" GRID TEAM

At a meeting held in the Bristol Recreation Center skating rink Tuesday evening it was decided by some 40 odd enthusiasts who hope to "make" the "Recs" this season to have Johnny Mulholland as their coach for the coming campaign.

This was the biggest development from the meeting which was called to decide the fate of the Recreation team for this season. Mulholland for a long time has been a leading enthusiast of the diamond sport in Bristol. Johnny has had a Bristol A. A. baseball team for about 20 years, and now he hopes to make good as a grid tutor as a sequence to a long period of equal success on the diamond. Mulholland will take charge of the team immediately.

Of the approximate 40 candidates who reported for a workout following the meeting, a number of them included new material from the Fleetwings and other local industries around town. One of the newcomers is a local boy who appears to have a lot of what it takes even at this early stage and already he is groomed for a starting position on the local team. The Rees started practice immediately following the meeting which was their first workout, but they will again practice on Thursday evening at 7.30 and three nights a week thereafter.

The managers of the team are now busy arranging an extremely tough schedule for the "Recs" who hope to have a successful season this year. The schedule will include some of the best teams in this vicinity as the schedule makers are arranging the stiffest card ever to face the Rees.

BOWLING RESULTS

Warner Sand Company bowling team of the American League took Asco into camp three points to one. J. Tucker of Warner having high score of 512 and D. Lynn 450 for Asco.

Rohm & Haas also won three of the four points from Coffey's Service Station. Lamon of R. & H. hit 539 for his team and Cooper 483 for Coffey's.

Stoneback's and J. A. C. split, each getting two points. Bills of J. A. C. had 515 and Wayne Milnor 493 for Stoneback's.

STEELE WINS MATCH AS LA RUE QUILTS BATTLE

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 23 — Ray Steele, whom many experts regard as among the five best wrestlers in the country, twisted Carol LaRue's right leg until it looked like a pretzel last night and consequently walked off with the verdict in the feature match of the Arena's opening mat program. LaRue was advised by Dr. George A. Corio, club physician, that it would be dangerous to continue. The end came after the grapplers had tugged and grunted for nearly 32 minutes. Steele had considerable difficulty with his shiny-domed opponent, but generally held the upper hand because of his superior mat finesse. LaRue, himself, clamped on several punishing leg locks, handed out some stout forearm blows and used a headlock to advantage. The bout, however, lacked thrills, principally because the men got down to the serious business of grappling instead of employing the rowdy, slam-bang tactics generally expected. Chief Thunderbird, dressed in his traditional Indian blanket and head-dress, trussed Eli Fischer, former Rutgers athlete, securely in 16:14 as the customers sounded a war-whoop. Thunderbird, a wiry Redman with speed and grace, absorbed a generous number of Fischer's forearm blows and kicks before the Indian blood was on State Penitentiary, Phila., at labor.

aroused enough to go on the warpath. Then it was too bad for Eli.

In one of the best bouts of the evening, Bill Sledge, burly Texan, grappled to a draw with Jack Patterson, Syracuse athlete and former champion of the Marines. Patterson bounced Sledge's nose off the mat repeatedly, but Bill was game. The bout went 30 minutes.

In the curtain raiser, George Kondylas, a Greek who prefers wrestling to the restaurant business, tossed Ed Cook, of Iowa, in 15:38.

Six Motorists in Court On Charges of Drunken Driving

Pleading guilty to larceny and receiving stolen goods, Salvatore Fusco and Nicholas Ridolfino had their cases heard before President Judge Hiram H. Keller and Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

The defendants are alleged to have stolen switch plates from the Penna. railroad yards in Morrisville, July 22.

John C. Haines, Penna. R. R. police, arrested the youths who sold the plates to a junk dealer.

Salvatore Fusco, 17, of Trenton, N. J., the younger of the defendants, testified he stole iron twice from the railroad yards. The first load was sold in Trenton and the youths were caught while loading the second load of iron.

Nicholas Ridolfino, 29, Trenton, N. J., the second defendant, national youth project worker, testified he thought it was only lying at out. "We thought the scrap iron was just lying around and intended to ask some one, but saw nobody."

"I borrowed the truck from Michael Peters in which to haul the iron home. A little colored boy went along for the ride; he sat in the back," said Ridolfino.

Mrs. Mary Ridolfino, mother of Ridolfino and six other children, testified her son was employed by the N. Y. A. for $19 a month.

Mrs. Fanny Fusco, mother of the 17-year-old defendant, testified her son was employed on a farm and in a fruit market. She is the mother of nine children.

President Judge Keller suspended sentence until the boys have paid to the railroad company the sum of $25, which represents the amount of money involved in the loss of the iron not recovered.

"We are not going to send you to jail until that money is paid," said President Judge Keller.

Pleading guilty to fornication, Fred Snyder, 22, this place, went on trial before Judges Keller and Boyer this morning.

The charge involves a 13-year-old County Seat girl.

President Judge Keller sentenced the defendant to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $100.

The Court expressed regret it was not able to impose a jail sentence.

Robert Ferro, 28, 4833 Longshore street, Phila., who pleaded guilty to sodomy and assault and battery, was sentenced by President Judge Keller to pay the costs of prosecution, a fine of $25 and serve not less than two nor more than five years in the East-nor State Penitentiary, Phila., at labor.

Ferro confessed that he and Arturo Dominic, who pleaded guilty to a similar offense last week and was given a penitentiary sentence, subjected a Philadelphia girl to sexual criminal assaults.

"This offense is all too frequent. The Court has some doubts whether you are as clean morally as you pretend to be," said Judge Keller, after District Attorney Arthur M. Eastburn revealed that the defendant was arrested in Richmond, Va., this Summer, on a rape charge. He was also arrested on other minor charges, it was testified.

"Your record indicates that you have been rather free with women. That will get you into more serious trouble than this unless you look out. The Court takes into consideration the fact that you have made amends in a pecuniary way for some of the wrongs you did the girl which required medical attention," said Judge Keller.

YARDLEY

Mrs. Francis Tomlinson, who has been confined to her home by illness, is improving. Alice Marie Ross, New York City, was a guest for a few days with her mother, Mrs. Lura R. Ross.

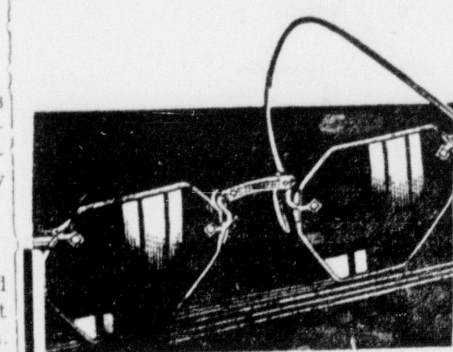

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Krawson and sons have moved from Liver Mawr to Langhorne.

Mrs. Robert Eisenbrey is confined to her home by illness.

PIGEON TERMINAL

KALAMA, Wash.—(INS)—Dave Cuff, railway station agent here, probably handles more homing pigeons in one season than anyone else in the country. Birds are sent to him by fanciers living hundreds of miles away in Seattle, Everett and other Washington, Oregon and Idaho localities, with the request that he release them at a certain time. Cuff thinks he handles easily one thousand homing pigeons a season.
